Rayburn Advice To Be Heeded By President

Texan Tells Chief Executive People May Think Ike To Quit White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D - Tex.) has told President Eisenhower that if he makes a personal request for "temporary presidency" legislation, people will think he plans to give up active presidential service.

An informed source, who declined to be quoted by name, said Rayburn told this to Eisenhower Friday during a White House conference with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders.

Eisenhower was said to have replied that he didn't see how such an inference could be drawn but will heed Rayburn's advice.

At this conference, Eisenhower proposed a constitutional amendment to authorize the Cabinet to decide by majority vote when the Vice President should assume temporarily the duties of a disabled President who was unable or unwilling to make the decision himself.

Rayburn opposed the idea strongly. Other congressional leaders voiced more guarded reactions, but none indicated enthusiasm for the Eisenhower plan.

THE INFORMANT who told of what went on at the conference said Eisenhower joined in a laugh that followed Rayburn's blunt expression of opinion. But Eisenhower is understood to have heeded the Texan's advice not to send Congress a special letter asking for presidential disability legislation.

Instead, Atty. Gen. Brownell will go before a House Judiciary Subcommittee Monday to spell out the administration proposal.

Rayburn was said to have told the President the country has gotten along very well through the years without special arrangements for temporary succession to the presidency.

The Texan argued that if Eisenhower were to send up a special letter on the subject it would lead to a lot of talk that he is in poor condition and is preparing to relinquish the presidency.

The Constitution provides that the Vice President shall take over the duties of the President in the event of the President's resignation, ouster, death or disability. But it does not spell out how a decision is to be reached on when a President is disabled, nor who should make the decision.

After Eisenhower's proposal was announced Friday, Rep. Keating of New York, senior Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, introduced a bill to provide for a commission to pass on whether a President is disabled.

Such a commission would be made up of members of Congress, the Cabinet and the Supreme Court.

There is a difference of opinion over whether the constitutional gap should be plugged by a bill or by a constitutional amendment. And there are those who, like Rayburn, feel there is no need for any action.

In view of the wide range of opinions on the question, Democratic leaders were reported to have agreed informally that nothing will be done at this session.

However, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said the matter is of "sufficient importance that Congress may act this year on it."

OHIO TO EXHAUST FEDERAL POLIO FUND

COLUMBUS (AP)—Final purchases from Ohio's allocation of federal funds for free polio vaccine are scheduled to be completed by April 15.

This was disclosed Friday by Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, who said that of the state's allotment of $2,100,000 for vaccine only enough remains for the purchase of 115,000 cubic centimeters.

When the April 15 orders are filled, the state will be out of the "free vaccine business," Dr. Dwork said. He added that he knows of no move in Washington to extend federal aid.

British Cabinet Split Seen As Lord Salisbury Resigns

LONDON (AP)—The Marquess of Salisbury's resignation protesting release of Greek-Cypriot Archbishop Makarios focused attention today on a cabinet rift over the government's handling of the explosive Cyprus issue.

The announcement that Salisbury had quit his cabinet post as leader of government forces in the House of Lords came Friday night. Prime Minister Macmillan's office reported that Queen Elizabeth II had accepted his resignation as council president.

Salisbury also quit as political controller of Britain's atomic energy development. Macmillan's statement said the Earl of Home, commonwealth relations secretary, will take over as council president and the prime minister himself will assume the atomic energy post.

Comptroller For Highway Agency Named

COLUMBUS (AP)—Paul L. Noble has been named comptroller of the Ohio Department of Highways by Highway Chief Charles Noble. The Nobles are not related.

The highway chief said Noble will begin work immediately and have general charge of financial planning. The 35-year-old appointee, a native of Cleveland, has an indefinite leave of absence from Ohio State University where he is an assistant professor of accounting.

Noble will have overall charge of the department's general budget and keep financial controls on Gov. C. William O'Neill's $1 billion road-building program.

The highway chief said the position was created to "increase our efficiency, get rid of surplus red tape, if it exists, and to make maximum use of resources available to the department."

Noble said the department's auditing division has "its hands full" and the appointment of a comptroller will help lift the burden from this division.

The new comptroller is a member of the board of directors of the Columbus chapter of the National Assn. of Cost Accountants. He is married and the father of three children.

The highway chief also said that he and four assistants would be in Washington Monday and Tuesday to discuss proposed policy regarding rate of progress of surveys, designs, right-of-way acquisitions and other related matters on interstate projects.

Bloodmobile's Quota April 8 Set 150 Pints

A total of 150 pints of blood is the quota set for Pickaway County residents when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits here April 8.

The mobile unit, to be set up in First Methodist Church, will operate between the hours of 11 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Winship Story, blood program chairman of the Pickaway County Red Cross chapter, said the quota is based on community blood needs and the need for stock-piling plasma for use in civil emergencies. The Red Cross is sponsor of the bloodmobile visit, which has the support of the Pickaway County Medical Society.

"The last time the bloodmobile visited Circleville, 118 local citizens made donations," Story said. "This time we hope to do even better."

He stressed the fact that donating blood is a simple, painless procedure having no harmful after-effects. All healthy men and women between 21 and 60 years may donate if they weigh at least 110 pounds. Also eligible are young people over 18 who have their parents' written consent.

TO ASSURE the smoothest possible bloodmobile operation, Story urged prospective donors to make appointments in advance and to keep their appointments on the day of the visit.

Appointments may be made by calling the local Red Cross Chapter at 336.

Army Trims Requirements On Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has cut by more than half the length of time youthful reservists must continue training after active duty. It also reduced the total service obligation of draftees and regular Army volunteers.

The changes in requirements for reservists and National Guardsmen were announced Friday.

Under the new program, below draft-age youths who volunteer for six months' active duty training will be required to serve three years instead of the present 7½ in the ready reserve, subject to immediate call on active duty.

The ready reserve obligation for Army draftees was reduced from five years to four. Draftees spend two years on active duty, and the reduction means they now will stay in the ready reserve an additional two years instead of three.

Likewise, the total obligation for regular Army volunteers was reduced from five to four years. Men may volunteer for three, four or more years. A three-year volunteer henceforth will be required to spend only one additional year in the ready reserve.

GALLIPOLIS YOUTH TO FACE ACCUSATION

GALLIPOLIS (AP)—Lloyd Hill, 17, left here Friday for Independence, Va., where he faces charges in connection with the death of John Ward, 68, Coal Grove.

Hill was jailed for investigation here Feb. 16 after he returned with Ward's car but without Ward. He told authorities he and Ward had left for Florida in the car but Ward gave him the car after Ward encountered a friend in North Carolina.

Ward's battered body was found more than a week later near Independence. Hill was indicted Monday on charges of murder.

Labor Pondering Future for Beck

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders of organized labor today awaited word on whether Dave Beck's Teamsters will back him or dump him in the wake of his suspension as an AFL-CIO chief.

Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, gave every appearance of fighting it out.

His troubles mounted on the heels of the AFL-CIO Executive Council's action Friday suspending him as one of its members and as an AFL-CIO vice president.

The council, top command of the 15-million member AFL-CIO, ordered a full scale investigation by the federation's Ethical Practices Committee into charges that Beck has brought "the labor movement into disrepute." This probe also would cover corruption allegations against several other high Teamsters officials, some of whom are under indictment.

MEANWHILE, Senate Rackets Committee sources said they are not "half through" investigating Beck's complex financial dealings, but may not call him back for quizzing unless he agrees to talk. They said other witnesses and documentary evidence could tell most of the story.

The AFL-CIO Council's move against Beck came after he invoked his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination in refusing to tell the Rackets Committee about his finances. The Senate investigators say he turned to his personal use more than $320,000 in Teamster funds.

If it follows past practice, the AFL-CIO Council is likely to give the 1½ million member union an opportunity to oust certain of its officers. The penalty for not doing so would be suspension from the giant federation.

Beck, who did not attend the Council meeting, reported in Seattle "I have nothing to say" about the action against him.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some independent Ohio gasoline station operators are complaining that their suppliers are discriminating against them on the price of the things they buy and other matters.

A House small business subcommittee said today the allegations have been numerous enough to justify holding a hearing in Cleveland May 18.

Cleveland will be one of several cities where the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Roosevelt (D-Calif.), will go.

"The complaints have not come just from Cleveland, however," said Joseph L. Nellis, special counsel for the subcommittee.

"We'll also hear from retailers from Cincinnati, Toledo, Dayton, Columbus and Canton."

At this stage, Nellis said, the subcommittee is not stating that the allegations are justified.

But as Nellis described it, Ohio retail operators allege that some big oil companies are:

1. Unfairly cancelling their leases.
2. Making them buy given brands of tires, batteries and accessories instead of makes of their choice from independent firms.
3. Charging them higher prices for gasoline and oil than those given local competitors.

Chicago Judge Ponders Fate Of Reds' Baby

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago family court judge must decide whether a Russian-born couple should be given custody of their three sons, under court supervision since 1953, and take them to the Soviet Union.

George and Nabejda Kozmin, former Russian slave laborers who were married in a displaced persons camp in Germany, want to return to Russia. They want to take with them their sons, all born in the camp in Aschaffenberg, and a fourth son, who was born in Chicago and is an American citizen.

Russian embassy officials are aiding the couple in their fight to regain custody of their three sons. The boys were made wards of the family court in July 1953 when both parents entered Chicago State Hospital after mental breakdowns.

The three boys, Richard, 10, George, 8, and Paul, 7, live at a children's home in suburban Lake Villa. The other child, Peter, born last August, lives at home.

Edward J. Nerad, chief Cook County probation officer, said the Kozmins, who came to this country in 1950 as displaced persons, sought to regain their son's custody last December that their appeal was turned down by Judge John H. Clayton Jr.

Nerad described Kozmin as confused and embittered with America and unwilling or unable to recall anything pleasant about this country.

Parts Of Bomber Found Near Lima

LIMA (AP)—Air Force authorities today are investigating reports of what appear to be parts of a B47 jet bomber's wheel well door found in separate spots in Allen County.

The highway patrol said a 12-year-old boy and a farmer Friday reported finding pieces of metal which Ronald Gaskill at the Lima Airport says look like pieces from the door that opens when wheels are projected for landing a B47 jet bomber. Ronald Barber, 12, and Paul Runser, a farmer, both of near Columbus Grove, reported finding the pieces.

Two receivers were appointed last month. With a quarter-million-dollar operating fund subscribed by the public, they were directed to show a profit in 60 days. The money ran out in 45 days. The "Old and Weary" was ordered laid to rest.

The odds against her survival may have endeared her to her bondholders who hadn't had a cent since 1935; to her 1000-odd employees who worked for lower wages; to the government which lent her money to buy new locomotives; to the banks which took pawn tickets on them.

They'll sell the locomotives and some of her tracks and stations to other railroads. What can't be sold will be torn up and scrapped.

Mrs. Anita Carroll

Witness Sees American In Bandit Caravan

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—New hope was held here today for the safety of Mrs. Anita Carroll, kidnaped by semicivilized bandits in the desert wilds east of here.

A U. S. embassy spokesman reports that police searching for the attractive American woman have found a witness who saw a "blonde white-faced foreigner" traveling with a bandit gang near the Iran-Pakistan border.

Police and imperial troops are pressing their search for Mrs. Carroll of Issquah, Wash., in rough desert country in southeastern Iran. Outlaw tribesmen seized her Sunday night after killing her husband, another U.S. aid official, and two Iranians.

The embassy disclosed the police report in denying rumors that Mrs. Carroll had been abandoned by her captors. The report said the searchers were following a trail of paper and clothing, presumably left by Mrs. Carroll, when they found her empty suitcase and the witness.

THE EMBASSY spokesman said the witness "claimed to have seen a foreign lady on a mule, traveling along with the women and children of the bandits in the desert toward the southern Iranian-Pakistan border."

The witness said the woman he saw was not tied and was "not looking sick," adding:

"The blonde white-faced foreigner did not have any difficulty and had no signs of injury."

The governor general of Mikran province in southeast Iran has offered a $10,000 reward to "everybody giving any firm and positive report on Mrs. Carroll."

The watch on the border dividing Iran and Pakistan already had been tightened when the widespread search began.

Iranian authorities wise in the ways of life of the semicivilized Tangeorkeh desert tribesmen had said it was likely that she was being hidden by the gang until it could smuggle her to the coast and send her to Arabia or Pakistan. They said they believed she had not been killed by her kidnapers because she would bring a high price on the slave market in towns on the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman.

Pakistan was asked earlier to help in the search.

THE EMBASSY statement came shortly after the Iranian government announced it would let Mrs. Carroll's kidnapers go unpunished if they will free her unarmed.

The amnesty offer was coupled with a U. S. embassy announcement that it was prepared to pay any amount of ransom for the release of the pretty 35-year-old woman.

Officials in Washington said that if there were any need for the United States to participate in paying ransom, the money could be made available from the International Cooperation Administration which runs the U. S. aid program in Iran.

"A civilization," said Welsh, "begins to fall when it outgrows its natural resources."

Ohio To Exhaust Federal Polio Fund

COLUMBUS (AP) — Final purchases from Ohio's allocation of federal funds for free polio vaccine are scheduled to be completed by April 15.

This was disclosed Friday by Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, who said that of the state's allotment of $2,100,000 for vaccine only enough remains for the purchase of 115,000 cubic centimeters.

When the April 15 orders are filled, the state will be out of the "free vaccine business," Dr. Dwork said. He added that he knows of no move in Washington to extend federal aid.

British Cabinet Split Seen As Lord Salisbury Resigns

LONDON (AP) — The Marquess of Salisbury's resignation protesting release of Greek-Cypriot Archbishop Makarios focused attention today on a cabinet rift over the government's handling of the explosive Cyprus issue.

The announcement that Salisbury had quit his cabinet post as leader of government forces in the House of Lords came Friday night. Prime Minister Macmillan's office reported that Queen Elizabeth II had accepted his resignation as council president.

Salisbury also quit as political controller of Britain's atomic energy development. Macmillan's statement said the Earl of Home, commonwealth relations secretary, will take over as council president and the prime minister himself will assume the atomic energy post.

Informed sources said Salisbury was backed by some other ministers in his opposition to the release of Makarios.

Salisbury, a 63-year-old former foreign minister, was believed to have been one of the masterminds in the Conservative Party's efforts to find a successor for Sir Anthony Eden as prime minister.

MACMILLAN was named to the post Jan. 10, two hours after Salisbury had spent 60 minutes talking with the Queen.

In announcing his resignation, Salisbury sent the prime minister a strong note scoring Makarios' release as "neither wise nor timely." He made clear in his letter that this act of generous statesmanship will reap its reward, Macmillan said.

From Mahe in the Seychelle Islands where he had been exiled, Makarios said he would refuse to negotiate with Britain to settle the Cyprus rebellion until he is allowed to return to the Mediterranean island. Although free to leave the Seychelles, Makarios is prevented by Britain from returning to Cyprus.

Dirt In Sky Is Sought By Space Experts

BALTIMORE (AP) — About 50 space scientists have decided to attempt to fire a rocket 2,050 miles into space where it would vacuum up some scientific dirt and bring it back to earth.

The Martin Co. conceived the plan and explained it in detail Friday to distinguished leaders in the fields of cosmic ray and nuclear emulsion research and rockets.

Raymond T. Patterson, Martin advanced design engineer, and Dr. Gerhart Grotzinger of Martin's Research Institute for Advanced Study, went into details.

Patterson said the 153 - pound "research vehicle" would be rocketed 2,050 miles aloft by a multi-stage rocket. Only about one-third of the vehicle would return to earth by parachute. This, said Patterson, would include an 81-inch long vertical cylinder which would contain 616 nuclear remulsion pellets, or film sheets.

These sheets would record the bombardment of cosmic particles and magnetic fields of which man has only indirect and very meager knowledge.

Labor Pondering Future for Beck

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of organized labor today awaited word on whether Dave Beck's Teamsters will back him or dump him in the wake of his suspension as an AFL-CIO chieftain.

Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, gave every appearance of fighting it out. His troubles mounted on the heels of the AFL-CIO Executive Council's action Friday suspending him as one of its members and as an AFL-CIO vice president.

The council, top command of the 15-million member AFL-CIO, ordered a full scale investigation by the federation's Ethical Practices Committee into charges that Beck has brought "the labor movement into disrepute." If it follows past practice, the AFL-CIO Council is likely to give the 1½ million member union an opportunity to oust certain of its officers. The penalty for not doing so would be suspension from the giant federation.

Beck, who did not attend the Council meeting, reported in Seattle "I have nothing to say" about the action against him.

AFL - CIO President George

Meany said Friday Beck has been summoned to a hearing here May 20 to answer "for his actions in bringing the labor movement into disrepute and his failing to explain many charges against him with regard to misuse of union funds."

Beck's suspension from his AFL-CIO posts is effective pending the results of the May 20 hearing. These jobs carry no salary, but do allow for expenses.

BECK RAN into opposition Friday from a top official of the Teamsters Union. John English, secretary - treasurer of the union, said he was against Beck's announced plan for a million dollar publicity campaign.

English said "as long as I am the general secretary-treasurer of the international I will oppose any use of the union's funds for that purpose."

He challenged Beck's statement that the Teamster high command had already approved the publicity campaign. He said he hadn't been consulted. In St. Louis, Daniel J. Murphy, another member of the Teamsters executive board, said he, too, had never been consulted on the matter.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some independent Ohio gasoline station operators are complaining that their suppliers are discriminating against them on the price of the things they buy and other matters.

A House small business subcommittee said today the allegations have been numerous enough to justify holding a hearing in Cleveland May 18.

Cleveland will be one of several cities where the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Roosevelt (D-Calif.), will go.

"The complaints have not come just from Cleveland, however," said Joseph L. Nellis, special counsel for the subcommittee.

"We'll also hear from retailers from Cincinnati, Toledo, Dayton, Columbus and Canton."

At this stage, Nellis said, the subcommittee is not stating that the allegations are justified.

But as Nellis described it, Ohio retail operators allege that some big oil companies are:

1. Unfairly cancelling their leases.
2. Making them buy given brands of tires, batteries and accessories instead of making their choice from independent firms.
3. Charging them higher prices for gasoline and oil than those given local competitors.

New industries were chary of locating beside a railroad with one wheel in the grave. Automobiles cut into passenger travel. Milk tank trucks spelled the end of farmers' cans on way stations. And so it went.

Each year the debts grew worse, another million dollars in the red. Two receivers were appointed last month. With a quarter-million-dollar operating fund subscribed by the public, they were directed to show a profit in 60 days. The money ran out in 45 days. The "Old and Weary" was ordered laid to rest.

Chicago Judge Ponders Fate Of Reds' Baby

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago family court judge must decide whether a Russian-born couple should be given custody of their three sons, under court supervision since 1953, and take them to the Soviet Union.

George and Nabejda Kozmin, former Russian slave laborers who were married in a displaced persons camp in Germany, want to return to Russia. They want to take with them their sons, all born in the camp in Aschaffenberg, and a fourth son, who was born in Chicago and is an American citizen.

Russian embassy officials are aiding the couple in their fight to regain custody of their three sons. The boys were made wards of the family court in July 1953 when both parents entered Chicago State Hospital after mental breakdowns.

The three boys, Richard, 10, George, 8, and Paul, 7, live at a children's home in suburban Lake Villa. The other child, Peter, born last August, lives at home.

Edward J. Nerad, chief Cook County probation officer, said the Kozmins, who came to this country in 1950 as displaced persons, sought to regain their son's custody last December that their appeal was turned down by Judge John H. Clayton Jr.

Nerad described Kozmin as confused and embittered with America and unwilling or unable to recall anything pleasant about this country.

Parts Of Bomber Found Near Lima

LIMA (AP) — Air Force authorities today are investigating reports of what appear to be parts of a B47 jet bomber's wheel well door found in separate spots in Allen County.

The highway patrol said a 12-year-old boy and a farmer Friday reported finding pieces of metal which Ronald Gaskill at the Lima Airport says look like pieces from the door that opens when wheels are projected for landing a B47 jet bomber. Ronald Barber, 12, and Paul Runser, a farmer, both of near Columbus Grove, reported finding the pieces.

Officials in Washington said that if there were any need for the United States to participate in paying ransom, the money could be made available from the International Cooperation Administration which runs the U. S. aid program in Iran.

Pakistan was asked earlier to help in the search.

THE EMBASSY statement came shortly after the Iranian government announced it would let Mrs. Carroll's kidnappers go unpunished if they will free her unharmed.

The amnesty offer was coupled with a U. S. embassy announcement that it was prepared to pay any amount of ransom for the release of the pretty 35-year-old woman.

More Conservation Education Urged

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jack W. Welsh believes that conservation is "everybody's business" and education is needed to safeguard prosperity.

Welsh made his remarks at the ninth convention of the Ohio Conservation Congress opened here Friday night. The Warren man is past president of the Congress.

"In fast-growing new communities," Welsh warned, "we must plan both recreation and subsistence on what land and waters we have left."

"A civilization," said Welsh, "begins to fall when it outgrows its natural resources."

Witness Sees American In Bandit Caravan

Iran Officials Press Search In Desert Wilds For Outlaws

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — New hope was held here today for the safety of Mrs. Anita Carroll, kidnaped by semicivilized bandits in the desert wilds east of here.

A U. S. embassy spokesman reports that police searching for the attractive American woman have found a witness who saw a "blonde white-faced foreigner" traveling with a bandit gang near the Iran-Pakistan border.

Police and imperial troops are pressing their search for Mrs. Carroll of Issaquah, Wash., in rough desert country in southeastern Iran. Outlaw tribesmen seized her Sunday night after killing her husband, another U. S. aid official, and two Iranians.

The embassy disclosed the police report in denying rumors that Mrs. Carroll had been abandoned by her captors. The report said the searchers were following a trail of paper and clothing, presumably left by Mrs. Carroll, when they found her empty suitcase and the witness.

THE EMBASSY spokesman said the witness "claimed to have seen a foreign lady on a mule, traveling along with the women and children of the bandits in the desert toward the southern Iran-Pakistan border."

The witness said the woman he saw was not tied and was "not looking sick," adding:

"The blonde white-faced foreigner did not have any difficulty and had no signs of injury."

The governor general of Mikan province in southeast Iran has offered a $10,000 reward to "everybody giving any firm and positive report on Mrs. Carroll."

The watch on the border dividing Iran and Pakistan already had been tightened when the widespread search began.

Iranian authorities live in the ways of life of the semicivilized Tangeorkeh desert tribesmen had said it was likely that she was being hidden by the gang until it could smuggle her to the coast and send her to Arabia or Pakistan.

They said they believed she had not been killed by her kidnappers because she would bring a high price on the slave market in towns on the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman.

Pakistan was asked earlier to help in the search.

THE EMBASSY statement came shortly after the Iranian government announced it would let Mrs. Carroll's kidnappers go unpunished if they will free her unharmed.

Pittsburgh Girl May Be Hailed World's Ideal Airline Stewardess

NEW YORK—Miss Sally Ann Brenner, 20, of Pittsburgh, Pa., the very first and one of the foremost entrants in a new contest to choose "the world's ideal airline stewardess," feels her job is absolutely the most fascinating in the world—but she does wish folk would stop thinking it's a soft snap.

"I have a sneaking suspicion," the blond and pretty Miss Brenner said recently as she finagled time out for coffee between flights, "that most people who have flown, look on the steward as the girl who makes lots of money doing nothing but riding airplanes from one place to another, with great amounts of time off."

For those who think that way, Sally Ann has news. To illustrate it, she told of a recent flight she made.

"We have one flight" at National that takes 56 minutes," she said. "It's a two-engine plane with 40 passengers and one stewardess—who has to serve 40 meals in those 56 minutes. Ordinarily, it can be done in that time if everything goes smoothly as it usually does."

"HOWEVER, one day recently we took off—and lost 10 minutes when a little bumpy weather kept everyone with seat belts on for a while. When I finally started the meal routine, I had only 45 minutes or so left—and bells were ringing, babies were crying, etc.," she reminisced.

"Very harassed, I finally stacked up a couple of dinners and started serving—when there was an insistent, almost alarming ring of a bell on one of the front seats. I rushed forward—and there was a man eyeing me thoughtfully, with my arms full of meal trays.

"I wonder," he said slowly, deliberately, "if you can tell me if this plane is a turbo-prop affair, and what the actual horsepower is as contrasted to—" ever been short with a passenger. I just gritted my teeth and said, 'I haven't the faintest idea, really, sir!' and rushed off."

"I think it's the only time I've

Despite incidents like this, and infrequent busy spells when the hostesses have to fill in for ailing colleagues, Sally Ann wouldn't be doing anything else. She's a daughter of the composing room superintendent of the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph, and she loves to fly.

More to the point, Sally Ann is a onetime band singer with her sights set on opera—and only airline work gives her enough time off on weekdays to study singing earnestly enough to bring her closer to her goal.

THERE MAY be some misanthropic stewardess aloft — by heavens, there are, now that the writer remembers—but one is not Sally Ann.

"There doesn't seem anything so cheery in the world to me," she declared, "as shutting the plane door just before take-off and looking around at the passengers and, well, kind of feeling that they're my family, to be taken care of."

The "ideal stewardess" contest is being conducted in connection with the film Spirit of St. Louis, with the winner scheduled to win all sorts of lavish prizes, including a screen test with Warner Brothers.

If Sally Ann wins it, however, it won't be her first such accolade. Two years ago the Society of Magicians chose her as "Miss Magic" of 1955.

Increase Shown In County Sales Tax Collections

Sales tax collections in Pickaway county for the week ending March 16, amounted to $8,133.27, according to state treasurer, Roger W. Tracy.

Although county collections for the current fiscal year which began July 1, 1956 are running behind those of the previous fiscal year, the collections for the week ending March 16 showed an increase of nearly 30 percent over collections for the corresponding week a year ago.

Among the state's 88 counties, Pickaway ranked 56th in collections for the March 16 week. For the same week last year, the county ranked 65th.

Many local businessmen regard the sales tax receipts as a reliable barometer of trade volume trends.

SALES TAX receipts for the March 16 week in the entire state amounted to $3,375,071. This was an increase of 4.64 percent over the corresponding week last year.

Collections in the state since last July 1 now total $165,365,314. This amount exceeded the over-all collections of $161,850,630 which were reported on March 17, 1956, for the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year, by $3,514,684, or 2.17 per cent.

An analysis of the report showed that 41 counties, including Cuyahoga, Franklin, Hamilton, Mahoning, Stark and Summit of the eight major urban counties, have accumulated collections to date which exceeded collections for the same period in the last fiscal year. At the same time, there were 24 other counties besides Pickaway where the respective weekly collections exceeded the same week a year ago.

Foresman Chimes Dedicated As Memorial To War Dead

By PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Staff Writer

Although most Circleville residents are probably familiar with the pleasant tones of the Foresman Chimes, chances are they are not aware of how, when and why the famous bells were dedicated here.

In research conducted by The Herald, with the cooperation of Durward Dowden, president of the Second National Bank, interesting information was found concerning dedication of the chimes.

Historical interest in the musical bells was revived several weeks ago when a bronze memorial plaque in honor of the chimes was erected in the county courthouse through the efforts of Dowden and Mrs. Lillian Moore.

Although this plaque was originated at the time the bells were dedicated here, it was not erected then due to a misunderstanding with county officials.

MRS. MOORE and Dowden, after locating the plaque, requested permission from the county commissioners to have it placed on the wall of the main floor of the courthouse. This request was immediately granted.

The now-famous chimes, dedicated here in 1926, were presented to Circleville by William Foresman, well-known banker and land owner. Although he died in 1921, provisions of his will directed that a chime of bells be purchased and installed in such a place to be determined by the executors of his estate.

Inspired by the deepest patriotism and cherishing heartfelt respect for our country's soldier dead, which was intensified by participation of the United States in World War I, Foresman directed in his will that the chimes should constitute a memorial to our heroic dead who laid down their lives for their country and for freedom and liberty of mankind.

The executors, S. T. Ruggles, Barton Walters and C. E. Salter, selected the tower of the courthouse as a fitting place for installation of the chimes. Consent for erection was graciously given.

choirs will sing the setting to the service and lead the congregation in singing of hymns for Evensong from "The Hymnal, 1940". The Junior Choir will sing "Now The Day Is Over" for a closing kneeling hymn.

en by the county board of commissioners, at that time composed of Samuel Stout, A. E. Schleich and J. R. Holt.

In addition to his generosity in donating this memorial for the country's war dead, Foresman donated $1,000 to the Circleville Home and Hospital. He also placed a bequest of $2,000 in trust, the income from which was used annually in purchasing Christmas gifts for children housed in the county home.

Foresman was born in Lafayette, Indiana, in October, 1845, a son of Philip and Elizabeth Foresman.

THE FORESMAN family was of Scotch-Irish descent, its founders in America being the great-grandparents of William Foresman, who came from the north of Ireland to America and settled in Virginia.

William Foresman, grandfather of the chimes benefactor, was born in Virginia and moved from there to Wayne Township west of Circleville where he engaged in the milling business on a large scale. This was about the same time the old Ohio Canal was constructed.

Philip Foresman, father of the former banker here, was born near the family mill in Wayne Township, and like his father, learned the milling business. Soon after his marriage to Elizabeth Bennett, he moved to Lafayette, Indiana, where he later died. Shortly thereafter the widow and her three sons, Bennett, George P. and William, returned to Circleville.

William obtained his early education in Circleville and later attended college at Cincinnati. Like their father and grandfather before them, he and his brother learned the milling business at the settlement in Wayne Township which by that time had become known as Foresman's Mill.

In 1883 he was elected a director of the Circleville Second National Bank and was made vice-president of that institution in 1893. He continued to hold this position until his death on February 12, 1921.

He was married first to Mary Millar. A son, Adam Foresman, preceded his father in death. Mrs. Foresman died in 1877.

ON JANUARY 20, 1900, the banker was married to Mrs. Nannie Winslow Partridge. Foresman had also served as Circleville postmaster for four years under the administration of President Grant.

The eleven bells in the chime, tuned by international pitch, were formally dedicated here on April 29, 1926. The ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. S. T. Ruggles.

The largest of the 11 bells weighs 2,100 pounds and is 47 inches in diameter. The smallest weighs 225 pounds and its diameter is 22 inches.

Total weight of the bells is 8,825 pounds and the frame they are mounted on weighs approximately 5,075 pounds.

The chimes are played from a console located in the tower room, approximately 30 feet below the bells. The method of playing is a more or less vigorous stroke, not a mere push. A fairly vigorous stroke on any of the 11 levers which correspond to the bells will sound out a clear and rich note from the belfry with the same prompt response as from a piano.

The chime was played for the first time after its installation by Mrs. Nannie W. Foresman, widow of the benefactor.

Sniper's Bullets Smash Into Trains

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A sniper's bullets smashed through the windows of three trains of the Market Street elevated line Friday, terrorizing passengers and causing one man to faint after a slug narrowly missed his head.

A fourth train also was fired upon but the bullet glanced off the side of the car just under the window. Police said the sniper, who hasn't been found, probably was on a roof or in a window at a level with the elevated tracks.

Pittsburgh Girl May Be Hailed World's Ideal Airline Stewardess

NEW YORK—Miss Sally Ann Brenner, 20, of Pittsburgh, Pa., the very first and one of the foremost entrants in a new contest to choose "the world's ideal airline stewardess," feels her job is absolutely the most fascinating in the world—but she does wish folk would stop thinking it's a soft snap.

"I have a sneaking suspicion," the blond and pretty Miss Brenner said recently as she flinched time out for coffee between flights, "that most people who have flown, look on the stewardess as the girl who makes lots of money doing nothing but riding airplanes from one place to another, with great amounts of time off."

For those who think that way, Sally Ann has news. To illustrate it, she told of a recent flight she made.

"We have one flight" at National that takes 56 minutes," she said. "It's a two-engine plane with 40 passengers and one stewardess—who has to serve 40 meals in those 56 minutes. Ordinarily, it can be done in that time if everything goes smoothly as it usually does."

"HOWEVER, one day recently we took off—and lost 10 minutes when a little bumpy weather kept everyone with seat belts on for a while. When I finally started the meal routine, I had only 45 minutes or so left—and bells were ringing, babies were crying, etc.," she reminisced.

"Very harassed, I finally stacked up a couple of dinners and started serving—when there was an insistent, almost alarming ring of a bell on one of the front seats. I rushed forward—and there was a man eyeing me thoughtfully, with my arms full of meal trays."

"I wonder," he said slowly, deliberately, "if you can tell me if this plane is a turbo-prop affair, and what the actual horsepower is as contrasted to—"

"I think it's the only time I've

ever been short with a passenger. I just gritted my teeth and said, 'I haven't the faintest idea, really, sir!' and rushed off."

Despite incidents like this, and infrequent busy spells when the hostesses have to fill in for ailing colleagues, Sally Ann wouldn't be doing anything else. She's a daughter of the composing room superintendent of the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph, and she loves to fly.

More to the point, Sally Ann is a onetime band singer with her sights set on opera—and only airline work gives her enough time off on weekdays to study singing earnestly enough to bring her closer to her goal.

Brigged Marine Going To Court

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A brigged Marine has gone to law about it in what may be a unique case.

Pfc. Douglas Martin, 22, petitioned U. S. District Judge Joseph P. Lieb Friday for a writ of habeas corpus. Martin contended through his lawyer, Frank B. Byron, that he has been held in the Miami Marine Corps Air Station brig since March 14 without charge and illegally by Col. George E. Lepping, provost marshal.

Lieb set Monday for hearing Lepping's explanation of why Martin remains in the brig.

Hidden Power

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The idea in the annual push car derby on the California campus is that only the human foot does the propelling. Judges awarded Zeta Beta Tau first place—then took a better look. The fraternity's push car had a lawn mower motor.

THERE MAY be some misanthropic stewardess aloft — by heavens, there are, now that the writer remembers—but one is not Sally Ann.

"There doesn't seem anything so cheery in the world to me," she declared, "as shutting the plane door just before take-off and looking around at the passengers and, well, kind of feeling that they're my family, to be taken care of."

The "ideal stewardess" contest is being conducted in connection with the film Spirit of St. Louis, with the winner scheduled to win all sorts of lavish prizes, including a screen test with Warner Brothers.

If Sally Ann wins it, however, it won't be her first such accolade. Two years ago the Society of Magicians chose her as "Miss Magic" of 1955.

Increase Shown In County Sales Tax Collections

Sales tax collections in Pickaway county for the week ending March 16, amounted to $8,133.27, according to state treasurer, Roger W. Tracy.

Although county collections for the current fiscal year which began July 1, 1956 are running behind those of the previous fiscal year, the collections for the week ending March 16 showed an increase of nearly 30 percent over collections for the corresponding week a year ago.

Among the state's 88 counties, Pickaway ranked 56th in collections for the March 16 week. For the same week last year, the county ranked 65th.

Many local businessmen regard the sales tax receipts as a reliable barometer of trade volume trends.

SALES TAX receipts for the March 16 week in the entire state amounted to $3,375,071. This was an increase of 4.64 percent over the corresponding week last year.

Collections in the state since last July 1 now total $165,365,314. This amount exceeded the over-all collections of $161,850,630 which were reported on March 17, 1956, for the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year, by $3,514,684, or 2.17 per cent.

An analysis of the report showed that 41 counties, including Cuyahoga, Franklin, Hamilton, Mahoning, Stark and Summit of the eight major urban counties, have accumulated collections to date which exceeded collections for the same period in the last fiscal year. At the same time, there were 24 other counties besides Pickaway where the respective weekly collections exceeded the same week a year ago.

Foresman Chimes Dedicated As Memorial To War Dead

By PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Staff Writer

Although most Circleville residents are probably familiar with the pleasant tones of the Foresman Chimes, chances are they are not aware of how, when and why the famous bells were dedicated here.

In research conducted by The Herald, with the cooperation of Durward Dowden, president of the Second National Bank, interesting information was found concerning dedication of the chimes.

Historical interest in the musical bells was revived several weeks ago when a bronze memorial plaque in honor of the chimes was erected in the county courthouse through the efforts of Dowden and Mrs. Lillian Moore.

Although this plaque was originated at the time the bells were dedicated here, it was not erected then due to a misunderstanding with county officials.

MRS. MOORE and Dowden, after locating the plaque, requested permission from the county commissioners to have it placed on the wall of the main floor of the courthouse. This request was immediately granted.

The now-famous chimes, dedicated here in 1926, were presented to Circleville by William Foresman, well-known banker and land owner. Although he died in 1921, provisions of his will directed that a chime of bells be purchased and installed in such a place to be determined by the executors of his estate.

Inspired by the deepest patriotism and cherishing heartfelt respect for our country's soldier dead, which was intensified by participation of the United States in World War I, Foresman directed in his will that the chimes should constitute a memorial to our heroic dead who laid down their lives for their country and for freedom and liberty of mankind.

The executors, S. T. Ruggles, Barton Walters and C. E. Salter, selected the tower of the courthouse as a fitting place for installation of the chimes. Consent for erection was graciously given.

en by the county board of commissioners, at that time composed of Samuel Stout, A. E. Schleich and J. R. Hoti.

In addition to his generosity in donating this memorial for the country's war dead, Foresman donated $1,000 to the Circleville Home and Hospital. He also placed a bequest of $2,000 in trust, the income from which was used annually in purchasing Christmas gifts for children housed in the county home.

Foresman was born in Lafayette, Indiana, in October, 1845, a son of Philip and Elizabeth Foresman.

THE FORESMAN family was of Scotch-Irish descent, its founders in America being the great-grandparents of William Foresman, who came from the north of Ireland to America and settled in Virginia.

William Foresman, grandfather of the chimes benefactor, was born in Virginia and moved from there to Wayne Township west of Circleville where he engaged in the milling business on a large scale. This was about the same time the old Ohio Canal was constructed.

Philip Foresman, father of the former banker here, was born near the family mill in Wayne Township, and like his father, learned the milling business. Soon after his marriage to Elizabeth Bennett, he moved to Lafayette, Indiana, where he later died. Shortly thereafter the widow and her three sons, Bennett, George P. and William, returned to Circleville.

William obtained his early education in Circleville and later attended college at Cincinnati. Like their father and grandfather before them, he and his brother learned the milling business at the settlement in Wayne Township which by that time had become known as Foresman's Mill.

In 1883 he was elected a director of the Circleville Second National Bank and was made vice-president of that institution in 1893. He continued to hold this position until his death on February 12, 1921.

He was married first to Mary Millar. A son, Adam Foresman, preceded his father in death. Mrs. Foresman died in 1877.

ON JANUARY 20, 1900, the banker was married to Mrs. Nannie Winslip Partridge.

Foresman had also served as Circleville postmaster for four years under the administration of President Grant.

The eleven bells in the chime, tuned by international pitch, were formally dedicated here on April 29, 1926. The ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. S. T. Ruggles.

The largest of the 11 bells

weighs 2,100 pounds and is 47 inches in diameter. The smallest weighs 225 pounds and its diameter is 22 inches.

Total weight of the bells is 8,825 pounds and the frame they are mounted on weighs approximately 5,075 pounds.

The chimes are played from a console located in the tower roof, approximately 30 feet below the bells. The method of playing is a more or less vigorous stroke, not a mere push. A fairly vigorous stroke on any of the 11 levers which correspond to the bells will sound out a clear and rich note from the belfry with the same prompt response as from a piano.

The chime was played for the first time after its installation by Mrs. Nannie W. Foresman, widow of the benefactor.

Theme On Faith Is Scheduled At Church Of Christ

"The Accomplishments of Faith" is given as the sermon topic for the church of Christ Sunday, meeting at 132 Griner Ave. This is the third in a series on the subject of "Faith."

In giving an outline of this lesson Charles Cochran says:

"Faith is one of the most powerful influences in the life of any individual. Great accomplishments are made by faith moving in the lives of individuals throughout the history of the world. The kind of faith that prevails is not an inactive, passive faith, but the kind that moves to obedience to God's commands.

"Faith must lead a man to obey where there is no reason for doing a command except God has said to do it. When God commanded Noah to build an ark (Gen. 6) there is no indication that it had ever rained on the earth, and no sign of a flood was imminent. Noah believed God and built the ark to the saving of his house.

"Faith must obey when the thing God commanded might seem wrong if God had not commanded it. When God told Abraham to offer his son Isaac on an altar he promptly obeyed, believing that God would raise him up from the dead. However, God stayed his hand and provided a substitute sacrifice. Abraham is referred to as the 'Father of the faithful.'

"Faith must obey when human reason can perceive no connection between the end sought and the means commanded for attaining that end. Naaman the leper was told to dip seven times in the Jordan river and he would be cleansed. Human reasoning told him that this was no way to cure leprosy, however, when his servants prevailed with him he obeyed and was cleansed.

"The Bible teaches that we are 'children of God' by faith in Christ Jesus (Gal. 3:26), but not until that faith moves us to be baptized into Christ (Gal. 3:27)."

Lenten Sermon Listed Sunday At First Methodist

The minister of First Methodist Church, the Rev. Charles D. Reed, will give the second sermon in a series leading up to Easter, in the duplicate worship services Sunday morning at 8:30 and 10:45. He will use for his sermon subject "The World's Greatest Question."

The text containing the question is found in the fourth chapter of the Letter of James. The Scripture lesson will be read from the First Letter of John, the fifth chapter, verses eleven through twenty-one.

Hymns for the services will include: "May Jesus Christ Be Praised" and "Take my Life, and let it be Consecrated Lord to Thee." Mrs. Ervin Leist will be at the organ in both services.

135th Anniversary Celebration Set At Presbyterian

The setting in the sanctuary at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning is in readiness for the 135th Anniversary celebration of the founding of the Presbytery of Columbus, scheduled to take place in the Circleville Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening. The setting will be historically authentic in detail.

The sermon to be presented by the Rev. Donald Mitchell is one which was delivered January 26, 1868, by a former pastor of this church, the Rev. H. R. Hoisington. It is a part of the historic collection in the custody of the committee on history. The theme is: "The Strength and Beauty of Zion," and it commented freely on the renovation of the sanctuary and repairs completed on the church edifice at that time. The Scripture motivation is the 52nd chapter of Isaiah.

The organ numbers will be chosen from the Batiste selections, played by Edward Wittich, organist of the church in 1883. They are: "Prelude," "Verset" and "Postlude." These also are a part of the historic collection of the church.

At the close of the worship a brief meeting of the congregation will be called to ratify the action of the Board of Deacons in the election of Charles Hull to replace Henry L. Reid on the Board.

Hull will be ordained, kneeling for the prayer of ordination. He will then be duly installed and the congregation dismissed with the Apostolic Benediction.

In the evening, Westminster Fellowship Youth Group meets in the chapel for devotions, with Beau Stevenson in charge. A business meeting will follow in the social room, with Alice Dawson, vice-moderator presiding. Rehearsal for "What Men Live By" follows, with Mrs. David Yates directing.

The nursery will be open in the Parish House during the late service for children up to three years of age.

Sunday at 2:30 p. m. there will be a general board meeting of the Hocking-Scioto Lutheran League Federation.

The Family Circle will meet in the Parish House at 6:30 p. m.

THE DIVINE VIGIL

Scenes like this are as commonplace as the moonbeams that play on the nursery wall. Little Gail doesn't know it . . . but Daddy and Mummy "look in" on her every night.

But what of the hours when parents sleep? What of the busy playtime when Daddy's at work, and Mummy's in the kitchen, and Gail is out walking her doll? Who will "look in" then?

Centuries ago the Hebrew pilgrims went up to Jerusalem for the great feasts, lifting their eyes to the hills, singing the song of "The Divine Vigil."

He that keepeth thee will not slumber rang the voice of the leader. He that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep answered the chorus.

Even the loving care of parents is no substitute for the faithfulness of God. When you worship in church next Sunday you'll be expressing the ageless conviction: My help cometh from the Lord.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his own soul. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BRING A FRIEND TO CHURCH WITH YOU

1st EUB Church To Hear Address By Judge Cline

Probate Judge Guy Cline will be guest speaker at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church Sunday morning when the local church will honor their newly organized Boy Scout and Cub Scout Troops.

Judge Cline has chosen for his subject, "The Trial of Jesus." The service begins at 9:30 a. m.

The order of service is as follows: Prelude, "By the Cathedral" with Miss Lucille Kirkwood at the organ; Processional Hymn, "Battle Hymn of the Republic" will be sung as scouts and troop committee enters. Allegiance to the flag will be given by the scouts. "The Star-Spangled Banner" will be sung, followed by the Responsive Reading. The Rev. O. F. Gibbs will offer prayer.

Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson, Mrs. Mary Tomlinson, and Mr. Chester Starkey will present a gift to the church in behalf of the scouts. Edwin Millirons and Roy Groce will receive the gift, representing the church. Judge Cline will present the Charter to the scouts.

Miss Kirkwood has chosen for her Offertory "Cheer thee my Soul". The church choir, under the direction of Montford Kirkwood Jr., will sing, "Send the Light."

Following the message and benediction, the scouts will retire from the sanctuary singing, "Battle Hymn of the Republic." The Postlude, "Temple March" will be played by Miss Kirkwood. A special offering will be received in the worship service for the trustee fund.

Sunday School in the children's department will convene in the service center at 9:30 a. m. Church School in the youth and adult departments will meet following worship service. Junior Church will meet in the service center following worship hour.

Theme On Faith Is Scheduled At Church Of Christ

"The Accomplishments of Faith" is given as the sermon topic for the church of Christ Sunday, meeting at 132 Griner Ave. This is the third in a series on the subject of "Faith."

In giving an outline of this lesson Charles Cochran says:

"Faith is one of the most powerful influences in the life of any individual. Great accomplishments are made by faith moving in the lives of individuals throughout the history of the world. The kind of faith that prevails is not an inactive, passive faith, but the kind that moves to obedience to God's commands."

"Faith must lead a man to obey where there is no reason for doing a command except God has said so. When God commanded Noah to build an ark (Gen. 6) there is no indication that it had ever rained on the earth, and no sign of a flood was imminent. Noah believed God and built the ark to the saving of his house."

"Faith must obey when the thing God commanded might seem wrong if God had not commanded it. When God told Abraham to offer his son Isaac on an altar he promptly obeyed, believing that God would raise him up from the dead. However, God stayed his hand and provided a substitute sacrifice. Abraham is referred to as the 'Father of the faithful.'"

"Faith must obey when human reason can perceive no connection between the end sought and the means commanded for attaining that end. Naaman the leper was told to dip seven times in the Jordan river and he would be cleansed. Human reasoning told him that this was no way to cure leprosy, however, when his servants prevailed with him he obeyed and was cleansed."

"The Bible teaches that we are 'children of God' by faith in Christ Jesus (Gal. 3:26), but not until that faith moves us to be baptized into Christ (Gal. 3:27)."

Lenten Sermon Listed Sunday At First Methodist

The minister of First Methodist Church, the Rev. Charles D. Reed, will give the second sermon in a series leading up to Easter, in the duplicate worship services Sunday morning at 8:30 and 10:45. He will use for his sermon subject "The World's Greatest Question."

The text containing the question is found in the fourth chapter of the Letter of James. The Scripture lesson will be read from the First Letter of John, the fifth chapter, verses eleven through twenty-one. Hymns for the services will include: "May Jesus Christ Be Praised" and "Take my Life, and let it be Consecrated Lord to Thee." Mrs. Ervin Leist will be at the organ in both services.

BRING A FRIEND TO CHURCH WITH YOU

The Postal Deficit And Its Difficulty

A strong misconception is prevalent among the public concerning the use of free mailing privileges by federal government agencies, according to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Franked (congressional) and penalty (federal department) mail, says Summerfield, has been declining to such an extent that fiscal year 1956 was the second lowest year in a decade in the number of pieces handled by the Post Office Department for government services.

Furthermore, the Postmaster General points to a law passed in 1953 under which all federal departments must pay the postal service for franked and penalty mail. During the fiscal year 1956, this amounted to $34.5 million.

Evidence of the misconception concerning such mail comes to Summerfield daily in the form of correspondence from well-meaning but uninformed taxpayers who insist a large portion of the $500 million annual deficit of the Post Office Department could be wiped out by curtailment of government "free" mail.

From the postal standpoint, at least, there is no free mail. What, then, is the explanation for the huge deficit this department chalks up yearly? The fact that postage rates have been virtually unchanged for a quarter of a century, says Summerfield. But parcel post and newspaper rates have been raised many times in that period.

Suggestions as to what to do are to continue operations as at present with the deficit absorbed by the federal budget, raise postal rates or contract certain duties of the service to private enterprise.

Congressmen are hesitant to burden businesses and other users of second and third class mail with added costs at a time when the government is trying to curtail inflation. Perhaps the suggestion of contracting some aspects of the postal service to private concerns deserves more attention than it has received.

It is no secret that an employer who pays the costs from his own pocket keeps closer tab on economy than one who uses public money.

Canada's Truly Remarkable Story

Most Americans do not give it a second thought, but in this prickly war-torn world one of the most remarkable stories concerns the United States and Canada.

Here is an open and undefended border across which more than 30 million Americans and Canadians move freely back and forth each year.

Now the Canadians are saying that this is a story that should be told again and again to the world. As John W. Fisher, executive director of the Canadian Tourist Association, noted recently:

"There is a story in this that I don't believe is talked about enough. We are a small country living next door to a colossus, but we are not afraid.

"This is a simple fact, but I think it is unique. Where in the world today can you find a border in which a great, powerful nation lives next door to a small nation and the small nation is not worried and fearful, is not subjected to either economic or political pressure?

"In the Middle East? Far East? Eastern Europe? Where? I don't know."

Fisher continued, "We have differences with the United States, and Canada, like any small brother, is not always polite or cooperative. But neither fear nor coercion is part of this relationship.

"When the United States is being charged in parts of the world with imperialistic ambitions, this story is a towering rebuttal. It should be told in India and Indonesia, Egypt and Russia, China and Poland, and throughout Africa. Perhaps—and properly—you in the United States can't tell this story, but we in Canada can and should."

Cheer! It Could Be Lots Worse

Those who feel like singing the blues with income tax paying deadline approaching have been given a reminder that it could be worse, although not much.

The Financial Times of London recently published some comparison figures. Although the salary figure used is a bit steep — $20,000 — for "average" consideration, the point can still be made that tax rates in the U. S. haven't quite caught up with some other countries.

The English financial organ disclosed that if a person earns about $20,000 and is married with two children, here's what would be left after income taxes:

In Britain, $9,400; in Germany, $11,700;

in Canada, $14,500; in France, $15,000, and in the United States, $16,300.

What's more, citizens of other countries have less incentive to get a raise than do Americans. If the Briton were to have his salary of $20,000 increased by $2,800, he would keep, after taxes, only 25 per cent of the additional amount.

A German at that salary would keep 49 per cent; a Canadian, 57 per cent; a Frenchman, 63 per cent. But an American would keep 68 per cent of his raise.

For what consolation it offers at this time, there is this evidence that the American is lucky on taxes—relatively speaking, of course.

Union Probes Could Go Deep

By George Sokolsky

What has been developed thus far in the Senate investigation of the Teamsters Union is that a number of union officials used the funds of their union for private purposes. The amounts are large and the data is important. However, it is unreasonable to assume from this evidence or from the general history of the labor movement in the United States that the Teamsters Union is the only one in which the public purse and the private purses of the leaders have become amalgamated.

The Senate Committee to win the approval of public opinion needs to be certain of two things:

1. That unions controlled by Democrats and Socialists receive the same kind of fine-combing of accounts as unions which are managed by Republicans. The Senate Committee will discover that no political school of thought has a monopoly of crooks or of honest and self-sacrificing men. It will redound to the stature of Senator McClellan if he investigates all the unions which possess multi-million dollar treasuries to discover what they are doing with the money.

2. That labor unions have since 1936 been making enormous political contributions not only to political parties but to individual candidates. Some of these expenditures have come out of strike funds and educational funds.

A break-down of such expenditures will require superior accounting training and talent, far better than anything that any Congressional committee now employs, but such ability is available in a number of well-known and responsible firms.

Sometimes, it is rumored, such payments are made in cash which is probably illegal and the accounts would therefore be garbled. But it would be of tremendous value to know as much as it is possible to know about how much of the workers' dues has been spent to support favored candidates and how many members of Congress are beholden to particular labor leaders.

There is a further point that the Senate Committee needs to consider, if its reputation is to be sublime as an impartial body seeking only the truth. And that is that even before the amalgamation of the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O., there has been a struggle for power and pre-eminence between such leaders as George Meany of the A. F. of L. and Walter Reuther of the C. I. O.

Into this struggle entered Dave Beck, the head of the Teamsters Union, the largest in the country. Beck became the most overt opponent of Walter Reuther. Americans generally are little concerned with the private ambitions of either man, but few would like to see a committee of the United States Senate prefer one to the other.

If, then, Beck is to be held before the country as a thief who has stolen the dues of the members of his union, an investigation should be made of all unions to see what happens to dues. The principal claim against Beck is that he swiped the money and used it for his own benefit, but it is less dishonest to use the money for someone's political advancement, which means that the political personality becomes a dependent of the particular labor leader? It would seem that it is equally crooked to buy a horse or a Senator.

Senator McClellan and his committee have opened a very important subject that has needed full investigation since 1936. To limit such an investigation to those unions which have affiliated themselves with Dave Beck is not sufficient; all the unions need to be investigated in the interest of their members as well as the general public, so that a thorough knowledge may be made available as to what happens to the enormous amounts which are taken out of the workers' pay envelopes.

Is it necessary for the unions to set up reserves amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars? Are all the welfare funds actually managed?

Do the unions conform to the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law and the Smith Law? If these acts of Congress are inadequate, should not new legislation be passed so that elections can no more be bought by the labor unions than by the corporations?

Unions are here to stay and those who fight unionism on general principles are not meeting the problems of the day rationally. But unions can be honestly and efficiently managed and ought not to be a source of income for the racketeer or a source of power for the political opportunist.

Few Need Medical Help During The Menopause

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IT is estimated that only five per cent of the nation's women need medical help during the menopause. The others either have mild symptoms or none at all.

Many are not aware of the change until it is all over. Yet it might make things a little easier if you can recognize some of the symptoms but do not worry about them.

Medical Care
As I have explained previously, the "traditional" hot flashes are not really traditional at all. Only 20 women out of every 100 experience them. And medical care will bring relief if it is necessary.

There is, of course, a change in the monthly cycle. It may be skipped for one or two months and then return. Or, it may simply be of shorter duration. This process of changing may take only a few months. In other cases, it may require a year or even two.

Physiological Change
Other symptoms sometimes accompany this physiological change, although in themselves they do not necessarily indicate the menopause.

These include headaches, fatigue, inability to sleep, palpitation and pains in the back or other joints. Perhaps there will be a numbness in the fingers and toes, stomach disturbances and bladder difficulties.

Sometimes night sweats accompany the menopause. And a woman may also be irritable and depressed.

Most of these symptoms are only temporary. Again, they may not be connected with this period of change at all.

They do, however, signal that something is amiss. They are a warning to see your doctor. Medical help is available, even for persons experiencing the menopause. If you need it, get it.

The Postal Deficit And Its Difficulty

A strong misconception is prevalent among the public concerning the use of free mailing privileges by federal government agencies, according to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Franked (congressional) and penalty (federal department) mail, says Summerfield, has been declining to such an extent that fiscal year 1956 was the second lowest year in a decade in the number of pieces handled by the Post Office Department for government services.

Furthermore, the Postmaster General points to a law passed in 1953 under which all federal departments must pay the postal service for franked and penalty mail. During the fiscal year 1956, this amounted to $34.5 million.

Evidence of the misconception concerning such mail comes to Summerfield daily in the form of correspondence from well-meaning but uninformed taxpayers who insist a large portion of the $500 million annual deficit of the Post Office Department could be wiped out by curtailment of government "free" mail.

From the postal standpoint, at least, there is no free mail. What, then, is the explanation for the huge deficit this department chalks up yearly? The fact that postage rates have been virtually unchanged for a quarter of a century, says Summerfield. But parcel post and newspaper rates have been raised many times in that period.

Suggestions as to what to do are to continue operations as at present with the deficit absorbed by the federal budget, raise postal rates or contract certain duties of the service to private enterprise.

Congressmen are hesitant to burden businesses and other users of second and third class mail with added costs at a time when the government is trying to curtail inflation. Perhaps the suggestion of contracting some aspects of the postal service to private concerns deserves more attention than it has received.

It is no secret that an employer who pays the costs from his own pocket keeps closer tab on economy than one who uses public money.

Canada's Truly Remarkable Story

Most Americans do not give it a second thought, but in this prickly war-torn world one of the most remarkable stories concerns the United States and Canada.

Here is an open and undefended border across which more than 30 million Americans and Canadians move freely back and forth each year.

Now the Canadians are saying that this is a story that should be told again and again to the world. As John W. Fisher, executive director of the Canadian Tourist Association, noted recently:

"There is a story in this that I don't believe is talked about enough. We are a small country living next door to a colossus, but we are not afraid.

"This is a simple fact, but I think it is unique. Where in the world today can you find a border in which a great, powerful nation lives next door to a small nation and the small nation is not worried and fearful, is not subjected to either economic or political pressure?

"In the Middle East? Far East? Eastern Europe? Where? I don't know."

Fisher continued, "We have differences with the United States, and Canada, like any small brother, is not always polite or cooperative. But neither fear nor coercion is part of this relationship.

"When the United States is being charged in parts of the world with imperialistic ambitions, this story is a towering rebuttal. It should be told in India and Indonesia, Egypt and Russia, China and Poland, and throughout Africa. Perhaps — and properly — you in the United States can't tell this story, but we in Canada can and should."

Conference Reports Given At Pickaway DAR Meeting

41 Members Gather In Dountz Home

Forty-one members of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, assembled in the home of Mrs. Kermit Dountz, Ashville, to hear reports of the State Conference, which convened in Dayton.

The opening ritual was conducted by the Regent, Miss Marie Hamilton.

Fourteen resolutions approved by the convention were read by the secretary, Mrs. Forest Croman, as part of the program section on National Defense. These encompassed such objectives as re-affirmation of state's rights, approval of five proposed constitutional amendments, advising caution in the participation of Atoms for Peace, opposition to changes of patriotic holidays, encouragement of investigation into the affairs of tax-free institutions, approval of loyalty oaths, etc.

Mrs. Dwight Steele introduced Mrs. James Moffitt and Mrs. Martin Cromley who presented an interlude of music entitled "Old Hundred," which was popular during the Revolutionary War and is an adaptation of the 100th Psalm.

The local Chapter was accorded deserved recognition from the convention for many activities undertaken during the year as reported by the Regent.

The Pickaway Plains Chapter was one of twenty chapters in the state to be inscribed on the Gold Honor Roll for completion of Chapter projects. It was first in the state for publication of patriotic articles dealing with the flag and second in the category of Press and Public Relations.

Our yearbook was adjudged one of the upper ten best. Yearbooks are scrutinized on a basis of quality program material.

Merited acknowledgement was also received for funds contributed toward scholarships for American Indian Students and the adoption of three young Indian girls at Chillicothe, Ohio.

The central district of Ohio was distinguished for its advertising in the national DAR Magazine.

Two girls from Pickaway Township School triumphed in Girl Homemaker competition. Sidney Graves won first prize in the Senior Dress-Up Dress division and Anne Smith was awarded second place in the Junior Cotton Dress classification.

From a total of eight papers accepted by the DAR State Filing and Lending Library our Chapter furnished two.

Attending the conference besides Miss Hamilton and Mrs. Croman were Miss Ruth Monteluis in the capacity of Conference Page; Mrs. Cromley, State Chaplain, and Mrs. Mary Mack, delegate.

In alignment with the conference theme, "Freedom Is Every American's Responsibility," four nationally respected speakers were engaged to address the sessions on various fields in which they excelled.

Mrs. Ray Erb, National Defense Chairman, spoke on the subject "Shadows Over Our Republic."

William McGrath, a Cincinnati businessman, was presented the Award of Merit.

Mrs. Croman summarized the topic of Dr. R. C. Young, Professor at the University of Georgia, which was "Why I'm Glad To Be an American." Dr. Young was born in Scotland.

Mrs. Ruth Muskrat Bronson, a full blooded Indian, was lecturer at the Indian Breakfast. She related the many and serious difficulties faced by her people. She is currently engaged as health advisor to the Apache; teaching modern methods of health and sanitation.

All Ohio DAR Chapters contribute to scholarship funds for eight students enrolled in college or nursing courses and have donated clothing to 105 Indian children in approved schools throughout the nation.

Suggestions from the state conference were extended to the various committees for improvements and increases in their services to be eligible for further DAR credit. Members were instructed to keep an accurate account of their hours devoted to community service.

A space for historical articles, dated before 1830 has been made available to people who would like to display their treasures on the shelves of the Ohio Room or Museum of DAR Headquarters at Washington D. C. They would be respected safe treatment.

In this respect Mrs. Walter Kindler initiated a new committee, Friends of the Museum, asking all members to support a fund to buy additional historical articles.

Interesting notes were the 350th anniversary of the founding of Jamestown, to be celebrated this year and as a part of Mission 66, projects to be completed by 1966, the restoration of Independence Square, Philadelphia, to its original form.

Mrs. Charles May, Chairman of the Committee on the History of the Chapter, appealed to the Daughters for data relating to the early formative years of the Pickaway Plains Chapter. Motions were approved to purchase metal filing cases for the preservation of Chapter records and to acquire identification media to stamp all pertinent documents.

Questionnaires were filled out by the members giving suggestions for the improvement of the community.

After the meeting was adjourned the Regent and Mrs. Cromley presided at the tea table, prepared by the hostesses: Mrs. Stanley Beckett; Mrs. Roland Featheringham; Mrs. George Gardiner; Mrs. Robert Knoder; Mrs. Richard Hedges; Mrs. T. L. Cromley; Mrs. Chester Rocky; Miss Eliza Plum; Mrs. Clarence Squires and Mrs. Robert Strigley.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am at the end of my rope and nearly crazy with fret and worry. I am a girl in my late twenties, pregnant and unmarried. It was a horrible mistake, an unforgivable sin; and I don't know what to do, and hope that some way you can help me.

I have thought of killing myself, having an accident, anything—just to spare my family the shame and embarrassment that people don't let you forget.

I am working at present, but don't have any money saved, and have driven myself frantic trying to think of a solution. The baby is due in July, and soon I will have to quit my job, for appearance sake, and then I won't know what to do or where to go.

My family doesn't live here; and I am here just temporarily. I have written my parents saying that I like it real well here, and am staying on for several months, so they won't think anything of my being away.

Please help me if you can.

D. D.

DEAR D.D.: In the larger city, adjoining the town from which you write, there is a branch residence of the Florence Crittenton Home Association.

This association is a nationwide social agency which offers confidential service to unmarried mothers, complete with hospital care and residential refuge—in most cases.

To quote from a recent newsletter, issued by the Florence Crittenton Home & Hospital in the nation's capital: "From the girl's first discussion with the social caseworker, the program (of protective care) is geared toward helping her utilize this experience in group living, as a step towards better life adjustment.

"The pleasant homelike atmosphere which greets her is a step in reconditioning bruised relationships so frequently encountered. The excellent medical-care program gives her, and her future child, a good basis for healthy living. Undergirding the program is professional counselling, which helps the girl understand herself better, and use better ways of handling her problems."

Another possible source of all-around help is your local branch of the Family Service Association of America—to be found in the adjoining large city aforementioned. As it happens, this is a Jewish Family Service (so titled) but, being a community agency with humanitarian service its goal, it can be counted on to furnish necessary guidance to any seeker in emergency, regardless of creed, I think.

This agency, like the Florence Crittenton Home, may or may not be listed under the name of the city, as "San Francisco Jewish Family Service—"

If for any reason you run into a stone wall, trying to locate help by these suggestions, then I advise you to call at the rectory of any church of your choice, insist on a private audience with the pastor or his assistant or case worker, and ask that personage to direct you to the proper sanctuary.

Training Camp Briefs

By The Associated Press

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox tangle with the Pittsburgh Pirates today and will be without the services of Bubba Phillips.

Phillips, a converted outfielder who has played some pretty good third base for the Sox this spring, has an infected right foot and has been sidelined indefinitely.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — If determination means anything, Jerry Kindall, Chicago Cub bonus player from the University of Minnesota, is going to stick in the big leagues.

While the Cubs trained at Mesa, Kindall was out taking special batting practice every day after an exhibition game. There wasn't anyone else around so Kindall settled for a throwing machine to serve his pitches.

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Left-hander Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies believes he is ready for his best season since 1950, when he won 18 as the Phils took the National League pennant.

"This is my year," Simmons said, "I feel better than I ever have. Not a trace of soreness and I can get the ball where I want it better."

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — The booming bat of big Joe Adcock is the talk of the Milwaukee Braves training camp.

The lanky first baseman Friday belted a 430-foot homer, his fourth of the drills. He's driven in 15 runs and has a batting average of .394.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Ron Samford who spent most of the winter in the Puerto Rican League appears a good bet to stay with the Detroit Tigers as a utility infielder.

"He can play short, second or third," said Manager Jack Tighe, "and he isn't too bad with the bat."

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals' two biggest problems — centerfield and the wildness of Vinegar Bend Mizell appeared no closer to solution today.

The centerfield situation is back where it was before rookie Bobby Gene Smith took command. Smith, hitless in his last 12 trips, is batting only .222. Bobby Del Greco, a defensive master, is at .105 and Chuck Harmon, the third center, is hitting only .205.

Mizell issued three walks in the first inning and yielded a three-run homer to Joe Adcock Friday.

Brooklyn Pulls Old Trick Of 2 Men On Base

Rookie Pinch-Runner Embarrassed, But Forces In Big Run

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turn back the clock, if you will, almost three decades.

Remember the Brooklyn Dodgers of, say, 1930. One of their favorite tricks was for one of them to steal a base already occupied by one of their mates.

Rookie Joe Pignatano of the Dodgers tried it in Friday's exhibition game with the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla. He was sent in as a pinch-runner for Rube Walker, who had doubled home a run in the ninth inning. What confused Pignatano was that two Brooks were on base when Walker delivered his blast.

Joe saw them both score. But he didn't see that Sandy Amoros was sent back to third base because of a ground rule.

Pignatano broke for third. Half-way down, he realized third base was occupied by Amoros, and he stopped dead in embarrassment.

He was run down, but Amoros scored the Dodgers' third run. And that's how the game ended: Yanks 4, Dodgers 3.

Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves received a note of encouragement from two of his question mark pitchers — Chet Nichols and Gene Conley combined for a 6-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton.

At Clearwater, Fla., Philly ace Robin Roberts went the distance and faced only 18 batters in the last five innings to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. At Tampa, veteran Warren Hacker went all the way for the Redlegs in stopping the Washington Senators, 7-2.

Rookie outfielder Harry Anderson clouted a home run for the Phillies. Sherman Lollar into one for the Sox. Pete Whisenant and Art Shult hit homers for the Redlegs.

Elsewhere, the New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 4-2, at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Pittsburgh Pirates halted the Detroit Tigers, 6-5, at Lakeland; the Cleveland Indians humbled the Boston Red Sox, 7-1, at Tucson, Ariz.; the Kansas City A's turned back the Buffalo Bisons of the International League, 6-3, at West Palm Beach, and the Chicago Cubs licked Memphis in Mesa, 8-2.

Lee Walls won the game for the Pirates with a two-run homer. Herb Score went five innings for the Indians and was effective except for a homer by Ted Williams.

Bird-Shooter Shot By Dog

MACON, Ga. — Ever been shot by your dog?

Charles Gilbert Havis, 15, has. Sheriff's Deputy Harry L. Harris said this is the way the unusual accident happened Friday:

Havis shot a bird with his .22 caliber rifle, leaned over to pick it up, and propped the rifle against his body. The dog jumped up in excitement, hit the rifle and caused it to fire.

The bullet apparently struck a rib and lodged just under the skin. Doctors at Macon Hospital removed it and sent Havis home.

Logart Collects Win Over Turner

NEW YORK — Isaac Logart's campaign for a title shot at welter-weight champion Carmen Basilio had support today.

The backing came after the fast-

Personal Duels Due To Spice Pro Cage Tilt

BOSTON — Bill Russell-Bob Pettit and Bob Cousy-Slater Martin personal duels were expected to spice today's opener in the National Basketball Assn. final play-off series between Boston and St. Louis.

The best-of-seven set was expected to be viewed by a capacity crowd at Boston Garden and a nation-wide television audience.

Neither club ever has reached the finals prior to this season.

Boston rookie sensation Russell, the agile 6-10 giant, was ready to match his unparalleled defensive skill against the league's second best scorer, Pettit.

Pettit averaged 24.7 points a game during the regular season.

Pettit, who has shed the cast which had been on his left wrist since it was injured in a collision with Boston's Jim Loscutoff six weeks ago, and Russell are both great rebounders.

The match of centers is supplemented by the test of veteran guards Cousy and Martin who have played each other defensively for years.

On the record, Boston finished its NBA campaign with a 44-28 mark compared to St. Louis' 34-38. The Celtics held a 7-2 edge over the Hawks.

Both swept their semifinal series in three games against Syracuse and Minneapolis, respectively.

The second game will be played here Sunday and the next two in St. Louis next weekend.

Frisco Club To Test Fliers In AAU Meet

DENVER — San Francisco Olympic Club, winner once before back in 1915, and the U. S. Air Force All-Stars play tonight for the championship of the 50th AAU Basketball Tournament.

The airmen, getting top performances from Dick Boushka and Ron Tomsic of the 1956 U. S. Olympic team, ousted Seattle's defending champions, 84-63 in Friday night's semifinals.

The San Franciscans whipped Peoria, Ill., 70-61, in a tremendous comeback after trailing 13 points in the first half.

Peoria and Seattle play for third place in tonight's first game.

Boushka pumped in 22 points and Tomsic added 20 in guiding the Air Force team to its decisive triumph.

The airmen led by only 50-47 in the second half, but with 11 minutes to play Boushka, Tomsic and Dick Welsh touched off an air force spree that left Seattle trailing, 62-49, with 8:37 left. The servicemen pulled steadily away after that.

Unable to find the range in the opening minutes, the San Francisco Olympic Club fell back 22-9 midway of the first half.

The Californians started gaining at that point but couldn't pull even with last year's winners until nearly four minutes had been played in the second half.

After it was deadlocked 39-39 the score was tied 11 more times before San Francisco went in front to stay.

punching 23-year old invader racked up his second straight unanimous decision over aggressive Gil Turner in a rousing 10-round televised scrap at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Turner, tired from another one of his all-out, full steam ahead thrillers, didn't have enough left in the final three rounds, however, and Logart swept to the front for keeps with his raking left hooks to the body and head.

Brooklyn Pulls Old Trick Of 2 Men On Base

Rookie Pinch-Runner Embarrassed, But Forces In Big Run

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turn back the clock, if you will, almost three decades.

Remember the Brooklyn Dodgers of, say, 1930. One of their favorite tricks was for one of them to steal a base already occupied by one of their mates.

Rookie Joe Pignatano of the Dodgers tried it in Friday's exhibition game with the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla. He was sent in as a pinch-runner for Rube Walker, who had doubled home a run in the ninth inning. What confused Pignatano was that two Brooks were on base when Walker delivered his blast.

Joe saw them both score. But he didn't see that Sandy Amoros was sent back to third base because of a ground rule.

Pignatano broke for third. Half way down, he realized third base was occupied by Amoros, and he stopped dead in embarrassment. He was run down, but Amoros scored the Dodgers' third run. And that's how the game ended: Yanks 4, Dodgers 3.

Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves received a note of encouragement from two of his question mark pitchers — Chet Nichols and Gene Conley combined for a 6-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton. At Clearwater, Fla., Philly ace Robin Roberts went the distance and faced only 18 batters in the last five innings to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. At Tampa, veteran Warren Hacker went all the way for the Redjigs in stopping the Washington Senators, 7-2.

Rookie outfielder Harry Anderson clouted a home run for the Phillies. Sherman Lollar into one for the Sox. Pete Whisenant and Art Shult hit homers for the Redjigs.

Elsewhere, the New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 4-2, at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Pittsburgh Pirates halted the Detroit Tigers, 6-5, at Lakeland; the Cleveland Indians humbled the Boston Red Sox, 7-1, at Tucson, Ariz.; the Kansas City A's turned back the Buffalo Bisons of the International League, 6-3, at West Palm Beach, and the Chicago Cubs licked Memphis in Mesa, 8-2.

Lee Walls won the game for the Pirates with a two-run homer. Herb Score went five innings for the Indians and was effective except for a homer by Ted Williams.

Bird-Shooter Shot By Dog

MACON, Ga. — Ever been shot by your dog?

Charles Gilbert Havis, 15, has. Sheriff's Deputy Harry L. Harris said this is the way the unusual accident happened Friday: Havis shot a bird with his 22-caliber rifle, leaned over to pick it up, and propped the rifle against his body. The dog jumped up in excitement, hit the rifle and caused it to fire.

The bullet apparently struck a rib and lodged just under the skin. Doctors at Macon Hospital removed it and sent Havis home.

Personal Duels Due To Spice Pro Cage Tilt

BOSTON — Bill Russell Bob Pettit and Bob Cousy-Slater Martin personal duels were expected to spice today's opener in the National Basketball Assn. final play-off series between Boston and St. Louis.

The best-of-seven set was expected to be viewed by a capacity crowd at Boston Garden and a nationwide television audience.

Neither club ever has reached the finals prior to this season.

Boston rookie sensation Russell, the agile 6-10 giant, was ready to match his unparalleled defensive skill against the league's second best scorer, Pettit.

Pettit averaged 24.7 points a game during the regular season.

Pettit, who has shed the cast which had been on his left wrist since it was injured in a collision with Boston's Jim Loscutoff six weeks ago, and Russell are both great rebounders.

The match of centers is supplemented by the test of veteran guards Cousy and Martin who have played each other defensively for years.

On the record, Boston finished its NBA campaign with a 44-28 mark compared to St. Louis' 34-38. The Celtics held a 7-2 edge over the Hawks.

Both swept their semifinal series in three games against Syracuse and Minneapolis, respectively.

The second game will be played here Sunday and the next two in St. Louis next weekend.

Frisco Club To Test Fliers In AAU Meet

DENVER — San Francisco Olympic Club, winner once before back in 1915, and the U. S. Air Force All-Stars play tonight for the championship of the 50th AAU Basketball Tournament.

The airmen, getting top performances from Dick Boushka and Ron Tomsic of the 1956 U. S. Olympic team, ousted Seattle's defending champions, 84-63 in Friday night's semifinals.

The San Franciscans whipped Peoria, Ill., 70-61, in a tremendous comeback after trailing 13 points in the first half.

Peoria and Seattle play for third place in tonight's first game.

Boushka pumped in 22 points and Tomsic added 20 in guiding the Air Force team to its decisive triumph.

The airmen led by only 50-47 in the second half, but with 11 minutes to play Boushka, Tomsic and Dick Welsh touched off an air force spree that left Seattle trailing, 62-49, with 8:37 left. The servicemen pulled steadily away after that.

Unable to find the range in the opening minutes, the San Francisco Olympic Club fell back 22-9 midway of the first half.

The Californians started gaining at that point but couldn't pull even with last year's winners until nearly four minutes had been played in the second half.

After it was deadlocked 39-39 the score was tied 11 more times before San Francisco went in front to stay.

punching 23-year old invader racked up his second straight unanimous decision over aggressive Gil Turner in a rousing 10-round televised scrap at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Turner, tired from another one of his all-out, full steam ahead thrillers, didn't have enough left in the final three rounds, however, and Logart swept to the front for keeps with his raking left hooks to the body and head.

Curriculum Data Discussed By School Survey Committee

"Pickaway County school officials are doing a fine job with the facilities at their disposal, but rather than be content with this we should strive for improvement."

This was a statement made by Dr. William Chase to the county-wide school survey committee at its meeting last night in the Jackson Township School. It was the fifth bi-weekly meeting of the committee since the survey got under way in January.

The study of county schools is being made without charge to the county by the Center for Educational Research at Ohio University. The survey is under the direction of Dr. Chase.

Last night's meeting was devoted to a discussion of the curriculum program in the county elementary and high schools. Dr. Chase told the group that before improvements to school buildings and facilities could be properly planned a community must know what sort of a program these facilities were going to house.

IN DISCUSSING what elements were desirable in an elementary school curriculum, Dr. Chase said: "Once, it was said grade school teaching was 'the three R's' but much more must be offered for a good program nowadays."

The Ohio U. educator said that the basic skills of reading, writing and arithmetic should be supplemented by the teaching of citizenship that would help a child to develop proper attitudes as well as a code of ethics and values.

Training in what constitutes good health practices, and enrichment courses in music, art, and science should also be included in any planned elementary school program Dr. Chase asserted.

In outlining for the committee the essentials of a good high school curriculum, he emphasized:

"A high school program should provide a preparatory education for those who are not going on to college as well as those who are." He said that vocational education offered in a high school must correspond to the type of community of which the school is a part.

He pointed out that in an essentially rural community as Pickaway County, agricultural training should be provided. But he added: "Preparation of students for eventual entrance into industry in the county should be part of a program as well."

"I DON'T mean to say that a high school should turn out a finished mechanic, but it should be able to provide a pupil with the rudiments necessary for him to enter industrial work."

A home economics program which would prepare girls for eventual family life and business education courses for the training of office workers and secretaries should be part of a high school curriculum, Dr. Chase said.

He stressed the teaching and maintenance problem which confronts schools where there are inadequate materials and lack of storage space.

"In Williamsport, for instance, we found one class where the pupils and the teacher had only one science table among them."

Where storage space is a problem, we've often found that more money has been spent in repairing equipment that was damaged because of inadequate storage facilities than would have been spent to furnish the needed storage space in the first place."

With regard to the pupil-teacher ratio Dr. Chase said:

"A teacher cannot do as good a job where there are two grades in each room, as is the case in some of the elementary schools, as where there is but one class to a room. One elementary teacher to every 30 pupils is a recommended ratio, but anything below this would be desirable."

HE STATED that in high schools, the pupil-teacher ratio will vary with the subject matter. "In some high school courses, 25 to 30 students can be taught as easily as 2-4, but in other instances this isn't possible."

The survey director declared that although in most cases county school officials have adapted their buildings quite well, many of the buildings, particularly the elementary schools, are over thirty years old and were designed for a restricted type of program by modern standards.

On the basis of an accepted standard of 30 square feet per pupil, nearly all elementary and some high school classrooms are overcrowded. He pointed out:

"The overall pupil-teacher ratio in the county for grades 1-8 is 27 pupils per teacher. The number of pupils per room ranges from 15-44. This has resulted in overcrowding teachers and splitting grades as well as overcrowded rooms."

On the other hand, he indicated that limited enrollments of some of the county high schools had resulted in many small classes, which has tended to increase the per pupil cost of education.

In concluding the discussion, Dr. Chase told the committee that recent data accumulated by the survey showed that teachers in both the elementary and high schools are well qualified as far as training is concerned.

"ONLY THREE percent of the high school teachers and 15 percent of the elementary teachers have temporary teaching certificates. Those three percent in the high schools also have their regular certificates."

"However," he added, "the data also shows that 30 of the 83 teachers in the high schools are teaching in more than two areas and a few are teaching in as many as four or five."

The next meeting of the survey committee will be held April 11 in the Salt Creek Township school. School finances will be discussed at that time.

The time of the meeting and others in the future has been changed from 7:30 to 8 p. m. All meetings of the survey committee are open to the public.

Educators Meeting

COLUMBUS — Officials and trustees of independent colleges in Ohio meet here today to discuss ways to cope with the enrollment boom.

Brownie Troop 795 enjoyed lunch at the Pickaway Arms before going to Columbus to attend the Lazarus Birthday Party that was given for all girl scouts of this area.

Those attending the event were Mrs. Paul Porter, leader; Mrs. V. E. Carlsen, committee member; and the following Brownies: Susanne Anderson, Marcia Brehmer, Leanna Brevard, Karen Carlsen, Christina Goeller, Trina Hennis, Kathy Ann Hachridel, Connie Lindsey, Cynthia Porter and Pamela Strupper.

Christine Jackson and Rita Jean Reed were unable to attend because of illness.

For the first time in the history of Circleville Girl Scouting, local troops were invited to attend the annual Lazarus Birthday Party, honoring the Girl Scouts of America.

The party was held in the Veterans Memorial building of Columbus.

The theme for this 45th birthday was "Girl Scouting Is a Family Affair."

After the presentation of Colors and the Girl Scout Ceremony, the choir, directed by Mr. Robert Johnson, presented several Scout songs.

Mrs. Leon Mathews, president of the Ohio Trefoil Girl Scout Council and Troop 750, gave the response to Mr. Joe Banell's greeting from Lazarus.

The Council staff members were introduced and awards given to several troop; also a presentation of ten year numerals to Senior Scouts.

The program concluded with a variety show starting Gregory and Cherie, Roxanne and the Western Square Dancers.

Troops in attendance from Circleville were: 795, Mrs. Paul Porter; 792, Mrs. Ned Harden; 777, Mrs. Lincoln Mader; 778, Mrs. Richard Conrad; 785, Mrs. R. Chelkowski; 797, Mrs. Verneal Thomas; Williamsport, 793, Mrs. Eugene Schleich; 789, Mrs. Curt is Keller.

Mrs. Florence Campbell, County Recorder, and Mr. Henry McCrady, County Engineer, demonstrated several phases of their work for members of Cub Scout Pack 52, Den 6, when the group visited the Court House recently.

In the Recorder's office the boys saw how important papers have been recorded from 1810, when a

Realtor Handed Prison Sentence

He is head of a real estate and rental agency bearing his name. The government charged that as president of the agency he filed fraudulent tax returns for the company, covering the years 1945 and 1946, so that the government lost between $10,000 and $11,000.

Federal Judge Paul C. Weick convicted the Youngstown man and imposed the sentence.

Greenfielder Raps Postal Rate Hike

WASHINGTON — L. Lowell Wilkin, president of the Wilkin Hosiery Co., Greenfield, Ohio, protested proposed increases in third class mail Friday before the House Postoffice Committee.

The rate applies to most advertising matter. Wilkin was one of six witnesses who protested the proposed increases.

quill pen was used, until today, when Photostatic copies are made as a means of recording documents. Mrs. Campbell showed the group an early document on parchment signed by James Madison.

Mr. McCrady showed maps made from airplane pictures as well as regular maps made by that department; he also showed the instruments used in surveying and blue prints used in rebuilding roads.

Members of Den 6 making the trip were: Jerry Shasteen, Fred Rickey, Jimmy Wood, Jan Taylor, and Drexel Poling. They were accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Mrs. Sterling Poling and Lorna.

At the latest meeting of Cub Scout Pack 205, held in Presbyterian Church, Den 6, under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Adkins, had the opening ceremony.

They sang "We Are Glad to See You Here" and led the group in the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

They carried out the theme of the month, "Indians," by presenting an informative program. Dressed in Indian costumes and seated in front of a teepee they pantomimed the "Legend of the Six Arrows."

Strongheart was portrayed by Terry Barnhill and his friend by Robert Speicher. Strongheart proved that he was friendly, helpful, unselfish, and honest and was made chief of the tribe. The retiring chief was played by Richard Fuhrman.

Mr. Elliott Barnhill reported that the Cubs sold 262 tickets to the Scout-O-Rama.

Mr. Charles Smith announced the forming of a new Webelos Den to meet in basement of the Elks Club. The Den leader is Mr. Harold Strawser. To be eligible a Cub must be of Lion Rank and ten years old before January 1. The first meeting of this group is to be April 9.

Cub Master Joe Bell closed the meeting with the Cub Masters benediction.

Maple Sugar Festival Set, But Syrup May Be Scarce

CHARDON, Ohio — So low was this year's yield of maple syrup that for the first time in years, sponsors are hesitating to set an advance price on the sweet liquid for the Geauga County Maple Festival which opens next Friday.

The weather has had little of the alternating freezing and thawing temperatures ideal for the flow of sap. Consequently, gallage from the sugarbush has averaged only about 15 per cent of normal, growers report.

One large producer near Bainbridge—the first to tap his trees this season—did somewhat better. He had a 475-gallon yield, compared with 1,370 gallons his maple trees produced a year ago.

Because last year's crop was one of the largest in history, some syrup is left over to augment this year's sparse flow.

But the festival sponsors feel the supply is too uncertain to peg the price yet. Syrup is selling at $6 a gallon up 50 cents from 1956. The experts say it could hold at that figure but is more likely to rise, perhaps as much as $1.

A throng of thousands is expected in this Geauga County seat during the three-day festival, at which maple syrup sells like the hotcakes on which it goes so well.

On exhibition at the festival will be methods used to make syrup from the iron kettle days to the modern evaporation equipment. From 45 to 55 gallons of sap from the hard maple must be boiled to produce a gallon of pure maple syrup, and that makes eight pounds of sugar.

Each day of the festival will feature a parade. Friday night's parade will end with selection of an Indian princess to rule for the weekend. Saturday afternoon's Pioneer Day parade will spotlight the princess and Gov. C. William O'Neill. Sunday is the grand parade in which a number of visiting bands will participate.

In addition to the judging of beauties, there will be a judging of beards—and, of course, the usual judging of syrups and maple sugar products.

Other entertainment includes:

Auction of mystery packages donated by celebrities including President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard Nixon, Adlai Stevenson, J. Edgar Hoover, Perry

Ike Launches Drive To Aid Cancer Fund

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower Friday launched the American Cancer Society's drive for $30 million this year.

He did so in accepting the organization's symbolic sword of hope from a six-year old Indian girl, Joyce DeZeller, whose home is at Fort Huachuca, Ariz. The society said Joyce, who called at the White House in a colorful Indian costume, has been cured of cancer.

After the ceremony Eisenhower issued a proclamation designating April as cancer control month and urged public support of the fund raising drive.

Farmers See Take, Costs Both Climb

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department says farm product prices increased 1 per cent between mid-February and mid-March.

This upturn partly offset a 2 per cent decline in the previous month. At the same time, however, prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and in family living increased about one-third of 1 per cent to a new record.

Lawson Reenacts St. Louis Slaying

ST. LOUIS — Police said Jackie Ray Lawson Friday reenacted the killing of 29-year-old Mrs. Credia M. Mallady Friday at her St. Louis apartment after signing a statement for the second time admitting that he was the attractive divorcee's murderer.

Shortly after he was brought here Thursday night from Columbus, Ohio, he repudiated the first confession given to Ohio authorities. But he reversed himself in a hand-written statement.

Lawson has been charged with manslaughter in a warrant signed by the circuit attorney's office.

COLUMBUS — Hog prices at interior Ohio markets this week were the highest since January. Prices averaged $17.95 per 100 lbs. or 45 cents higher than last week, the Ohio Department of Agriculture reported today.

Most choice lightweight sows bulked at $16 to $16.50 with some at $16.75. Heavy sows moved at $15.75 and down.

Use Of Billboard In Love Pondered

YOUNGSTOWN — Ted Horner tried to decide today whether a billboard on Ohio 18 between here and Akron would be a shortcut or a detour on the road to his true love.

To impress a sweetheart who had been giving him the cold shoulder, Horner ordered a billboard bearing the message in letters six feet high:

"Florence—I Love You. Me." Horner is somewhat uncertain whether it should go up. The newspapers got into the act, and the publicity caused the idea to occur to Ted that his sweetheart's reaction might be a chilly one.

Only Half Of Ohio Counties To Hold Primary Poll In May

COLUMBUS — Only half of Ohio's 88 counties will hold primary elections in one or more municipalities on May 7, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown reported today.

The 1957 figure, much lower than usual, compares with 54 in 1953 and 52 in 1955, more recent so-called "odd year" primary elections.

Brown said that changes in Ohio's election laws which have tended to reduce the number of primary elections in many municipalities were not intended to "stifle competition" among candidates within the two political parties, but, rather, were enacted to save time and expense to the taxpayer in cases where opposition was lacking.

Some municipalities will not hold primaries in May due to the fact that they are under 2,000 population in which the law does not provide for party candidates. Therefore, all candidates must file nominating petitions. Also, in municipalities over 2,000, there are cases where all the candidates filed by nominating petition, rather than by declarations of candidacy

60-Cent Item Is Headache For Treasury

WASHINGTON — The folks who count Uncle Sam's money will be glad when the end of the month comes. There's a 60-cent item they want to sweep under the rug.

Every week day the Treasury issues a statement of its accounts. And in the last of millions for this, billions for that and jillions for something else, that 60 cents stands out like a plow horse at an auto show.

It comes under the heading of "accrued discount" in the savings bond program. Every six months, a savings bond increases in value and the accrued discount is the amount of interest due on bonds that have reached the six-month stage.

The figure is worked out only on the last day of the month. On Feb. 28, it was $89,190,160.79.

From month end to month end the accrued discount entry is supposed to be blank. But on March 4 up popped 30 cents. On March 13 it jumped to 60 cents.

Is this just an ordinary mistake, such as any one might make in figuring an $89 million entry? Oh, no, says the Treasury, this is an "adjustment."

What's an "adjustment?" Well, says the Treasury, maybe a bond was overlooked or a figure slipped up somewhere.

Then it is just an ordinary mistake? Oh, no, it's an "adjustment."

Curriculum Data Discussed By School Survey Committee

"Pickaway County school officials are doing a fine job with the facilities at their disposal, but rather than be content with this we should strive for improvement."

This was a statement made by Dr. William Chase to the county-wide school survey committee at its meeting last night in the Jackson Township School. It was the fifth bi-weekly meeting of the committee since the survey got under way in January.

The study of county schools is being made without charge to the county by the Center for Educational Research at Ohio University. The survey is under the direction of Dr. Chase.

Last night's meeting was devoted to a discussion of the curriculum program in the county elementary and high schools. Dr. Chase told the group that before improvements to school buildings and facilities could be properly planned a community must know what sort of a program these facilities were going to house.

IN DISCUSSING what elements were desirable in an elementary school curriculum, Dr. Chase said: "Once, it was said grade school teaching was 'the three R's' but much more must be offered for a good program nowadays."

The Ohio U. educator said that the basic skills of reading, writing and arithmetic should be supplemented by the teaching of citizenship that would help a child to develop proper attitudes as well as a code of ethics and values.

Training in what constitutes good health practices, and enrichment courses in music, art, and science should also be included in any planned elementary school program Dr. Chase asserted.

In outlining for the committee the essentials of a good high school curriculum, he emphasized:

"A high school program should provide a preparatory education for those who are not going on to college as well as those who are." He said that vocational education offered in a high school must correspond to the type of community of which the school is a part.

He pointed out that in an essentially rural community as Pickaway County, agricultural training should be provided. But he added: "Preparation of students for eventual entrance into industry in the county should be part of a program as well."

"I DON'T mean to say that a high school should turn out a finished mechanic, but it should be able to provide a pupil with the rudiments necessary for him to enter industrial work."

A home economics program

which would prepare girls for eventual family life and business education courses for the training of office workers and secretaries should be part of a high school curriculum, Dr. Chase said.

He stressed the teaching and maintenance problem which confronts schools where there are inadequate materials and lack of storage space.

"In Williamsport, for instance, we found one class where the pupils and the teacher had only one science table among them. Where storage space is a problem, we've often found that more money has been spent in repairing equipment that was damaged because of inadequate storage facilities than would have been spent to furnish the needed storage space in the first place."

With regard to the pupil-teacher ratio Dr. Chase said:

"A teacher cannot do as good a job where there are two grades in each room, as is the case in some of the elementary schools, as where there is but one class to a room. One elementary teacher to every 30 pupils is a recommended ratio, but anything below this would be desirable."

HE STATED that in high schools, the pupil-teacher ratio will vary with the subject matter. "In some high school courses, 25 to 30 students can be taught as easily as 24, but in other instances this isn't possible."

The survey director declared that although in most cases county school officials have adapted their buildings quite well, many of the buildings, particularly the elementary schools, are over thirty years old and were designed for a restricted type of program by modern standards.

On the basis of an accepted standard of 30 square feet per pupil, nearly all elementary and some high school classrooms are overcrowded. He pointed out:

"The overall pupil-teacher ratio in the county for grades 1-8 is 27 pupils per teacher. The number of pupils per room ranges from 15-44. This has resulted in overcrowding teachers and splitting grades as well as overcrowded rooms."

On the other hand, he indicated that limited enrollments of some of the county high schools had resulted in many small classes, which has tended to increase the per pupil cost of education.

In concluding the discussion, Dr. Chase told the committee that recent data accumulated by the survey showed that teachers in both the elementary and high schools are well qualified as far as training is concerned.

"ONLY THREE percent of the high school teachers and 15 percent of the elementary teachers have temporary teaching certificates. Those three percent in the high schools also have their regular certificates."

"However," he added, "the data also shows that 30 of the 83 teachers in the high schools are teaching in more than two areas and a few are teaching in as many as four or five."

The next meeting of the survey committee will be held April 11 in the Salt Creek Township school. School finances will be discussed at that time.

The time of the meeting and others in the future has been changed from 7:30 to 8 p. m. All meetings of the survey committee are open to the public.

Maple Sugar Festival Set, But Syrup May Be Scarce

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—So low was this year's yield of maple syrup that for the first time in years, sponsors are hesitating to set an advance price on the sweet liquid for the Geauga County Maple Festival which opens next Friday.

The weather has had little of the alternating freezing and thawing temperatures ideal for the flow of sap. Consequently, gallonage from the sugarbush has averaged only about 15 per cent of normal, growers report.

One large producer near Bainbridge—the first to tap his trees this season—did somewhat better. He had a 475-gallon yield, compared with 1,370 gallons his maple trees produced a year ago.

Because last year's crop was one of the largest in history, some syrup is left over to augment this year's sparse flow.

But the festival sponsors feel the supply is too uncertain to peg

the price yet. Syrup is selling at $6 a gallon up 50 cents from 1956. The experts say it could hold at that figure but is more likely to rise, perhaps as much as $1.

A throng of thousands is expected in this Geauga County seat during the three-day festival, at which maple syrup sells like the hotcakes on which it goes so well.

On exhibition at the festival will be methods used to make syrup from the iron kettle days to the modern evaporation equipment. From 45 to 55 gallons of sap from the hard maple must be boiled to produce a gallon of pure maple syrup, and that makes eight pounds of sugar.

Each day of the festival will feature a parade. Friday night's parade will end with selection of an Indian princess to rule for the weekend. Saturday afternoon's Pioneer Day parade will spotlight the princess and Gov. C. William O'Neill. Sunday is the grand parade in which a number of visiting bands will participate.

In addition to the judging of beauties, there will be a judging of beards—and, of course, the usual judging of syrups and maple sugar products.

Other entertainment includes: Auction of mystery packages donated by celebrities including President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard Nixon, Adlai Stevenson, J. Edgar Hoover, Perry

After the ceremony Eisenhower issued a proclamation designating April as cancer control month and urged public support of the fund raising drive.

Farmers See Take, Costs Both Climb

Only Half Of Ohio Counties To Hold Primary Poll In May

COLUMBUS (AP)—Only half of Ohio's 88 counties will hold primary elections in one or more municipalities on May 7, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown reported today.

The 1957 figure, much lower than usual, compares with 54 in 1953 and 52 in 1955, more recent so-called "odd year" primary elections.

Therefore, all candidates must file nominating petitions. Also, in municipalities over 2,000, there are cases where all the candidates filed by nominating petition, rather than by declarations of candidacy as partisan candidates. Their names will go on the November ballot.

In cases where there is no opposition in any office to be filled in either or both of the parties, one or both Republican or Democratic primaries have been eliminated, Brown said. He also pointed to another great saving effected by a law enacted by the 101st General Assembly in 1955, but which became operative for the first time this year:

This change provides that a city-wide primary need not be held when the contest is only for ward councilman, the primary only needing to be scheduled in that ward where opposition developed and only for that office.
